

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A test structure for a memory cell array determines a doping region of an electrode connection that, in a memory cell, connects an inner capacitor electrode of a trench capacitor to 5 an associated selection transistor. The test structure has an electrical contact with a predetermined contact area disposed between a regular matrix configuration of four trench capacitors.

REL/nt